“State of the City” Moved to February

Due to the snow canceling our January luncheon, we asked City Manager Rich Leahy to present his “State of the City” at this month’s luncheon. He graciously agreed to do so.

His presentation will be informative and can help address compelling issues affecting the City of Woodinville and its neighbors.

The City Manager is hired by the city council to act as the chief executive officer of the city. The city manager’s role is to direct departments, operations and activities; administer staff, finances, and programs and is responsible to:

- ⇒ Review and oversee departmental operations and all personnel functions.

- ⇒ Recommend a balanced biennial budget.
- ⇒ Administer the adopted budget and capital im-

- ⇒ Monitor state and federal legislation.
- ⇒ Coordinate compliance with national and state laws.
- ⇒ Conduct and coordinate policy research.

Chamber Board Maps out Plan for 2012

Your Woodinville Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors began the New Year by investing a Saturday to develop the Chamber's strategic plan for 2012 and beyond.

In addition to ensuring the chamber is laser-focused on its mission "To promote, strengthen and represent a successful business community", the plan addresses the opportunity for the chamber to grow its membership and sets in place the committee structure that will engage our volunteers in the work of the chamber.

Membership

In the past few years the chamber has progressed through several critical phases, from "Near Death" to "Survival", to "Rebuilding". Following the old adage, "What doesn't kill you makes you stronger", the organization has in fact grown stronger as it advanced through each of these phases to its present state that finds it lean, focused and financially stable. We're now prepared to grow, by continuing to increase membership value and building the organization on a strong foundation.

The plan places emphasis on member retention, which will be accomplished through effective communication with existing members and stronger outreach to encourage member engagement.

The chamber staff and volunteers will also be more intentional this year regarding outreach to prospective new members and you can help by reaching out to your business associates to encourage them to consider joining the Woodinville Chamber. We will be delighted to follow up.

Committees

The following committees are in place to help deliver the chamber's mission. They are open to all members who wish to volunteer their time and expertise. Please contact the committee chair if you are interested or would like more information.

Sponsorship Opportunities are Available!

The Greater Woodinville Chamber has two events coming up that will afford members some great sponsorship opportunities. A sponsorship of our monthly Student of the Month program is also available.

◆ “Salute Woodinville” Gala & Auction, March 10th at Ste. Michelle

Three Premier Sponsorships levels are available, with benefits specific to each one, priced at $5,000, $2,500 and $1,500. A corporate table for ten guests is also available for $1,000. Plus, chamber members can purchase business card ads in the auction catalogue for $100.

◆ “Celebrate Woodinville All Fools’ Day” Parade

The Presenting Sponsor position has been taken by Evergreen Hospital Medical Center for the second consecutive year! Other sponsorship levels range from $1,000 to $150 and have unique benefits included.

◆ “Student of the Month”

Each month at our member luncheon the chamber recognizes a student chosen by our local educators. $500 will buy lunches for the students and their teacher representatives for the year. The sponsor will be promoted in our newsletters and on the website, in addition to some podium time at each luncheon.

Please contact Dave Witt if you are interested, at 425.481.8300.

Woodinville Wine Country Hires Marketing Coordinator

Gretchen Smith has joined Woodinville Wine Country as their Marketing Coordinator.

Ms. Smith comes from a two and a half year tenure at Mike’s Hard Lemonade where she helped oversee their social media initiatives, coordinated public relations programs and monitored their brand identity.

In 2002, an eclectic group of wineries came together to form “Woodinville Wine Country”, a nonprofit organization. The two things they all had in common were a vision to create fine, world-class wines from Washington grapes, and a burning desire to enhance their community by educating the public and driving tourism to the area.

It is their love for the Woodinville area that unites them in building their craft here.

Almost all Woodinville wineries grow their grapes in the warm, arid climate of Eastern Washington’s Columbia Valley. The vineyards boast sandy, gravelly soils that provides an ideal medium to plant the grapevines. Our wine growing region shares similar latitudes to the great wine regions of northern Europe.

Experience Woodinville Wine Country first hand, where the proof is in the bottle.

Bert Mills Tops at Edward Jones

Edward Jones Financial Advisor Bert Mills and Branch Office Administrator Darlene Allman in Woodinville were recently ranked in the top 25 percent of the country for excellence in client service at Edward Jones.

The ranking is the result of a company survey of clients. “We are particularly honored by this award as it is one bestowed upon us by our clients,” Mills said.

Bert is an Edward Jones Investments financial advisor who offers investment advisory services, financial portfolio analysis, trust management and other related services. In addition, Mills is experienced with wealth management, education planning, financial projections and a variety of other related services. Visit the website for more information.

Edward Jones, which ranked No. 11 on Fortune magazine’s “100 Best Companies to Work For” in 2011, is headquartered in St. Louis.

Business Tagline or Motto

The Greater Woodinville Chamber of Commerce Board Welcomes Two New Members

The 2012 Board of Directors is pleased to welcome Trisha West, Evergreen Hospital Medical Center, and Tom Quigley, Arborist, to a three year term beginning January 1, 2012.

Trisha is the Director of Strategic Planning at Evergreen Healthcare in Kirkland, where she has led the development of three corporate strategic plans. Her passion for strategy, market research, business planning, and advancing teams toward a common vision spans twenty years. Trisha joined Evergreen's Program Development department in 1999, and was promoted to Director of Planning in 2003. Prior to Evergreen, Trisha was employed by Valley Medical Center in Renton and at Group Health Cooperative in Seattle. She earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in Business Administration/Marketing and a Master of Healthcare Administration degree from the University of Washington. Trisha is a member of the Society of Healthcare Strategy and Market Development and is on the Washington

State Hospital Association's Public Policy Advisory Committee.

Tom Quigley says "I was born and raised in Everett and knew of Woodinville but it seem quite far away from where I was. I moved to the Hollywood Hill area in 1987, with my wife and a five year old daughter; a second daughter soon thereafter. In 1990, I wondered into a local nursery to see about purchasing a tree and learned that the nursery was for sale. I purchased the nursery and became involved with the farmland that the nursery sat upon. I've served on the King County Agriculture Commission and I was once appointed to the Washington State Urban Forestry Council. I've been involved with local agriculture issues and was a co-founder of the Sammamish Valley Alliance. I was the President of the Washington State Nursery and Landscape Association. I'm a Certified Arborist and as such I provide insurance appraisals for trees and landscapes that have been involved with car accidents or fire or such.

A time ago, I sat on the Board of the Woodinville Chamber and I appreciate the work of a group of caring business people. I think Woodinville is so such a unique place. I like living here and I hope I can add some additional enthusiasm to the mix

I like to be outdoors and I find time for kayaking, boating, kite flying and frequent saunas."

New 21 Acres School to offer Sustainability and Stewardship Certificate

With a non-profit school dedicated to teaching people how to grow, eat and live sustainably, 21 Acres announces its new series of Core Courses to begin in February. The new 21 Acres School offers continuing education classes that focus on principles of sustainable agriculture, including those related to not only food and food systems, but also home energy and water conservation, tools for local economic development and quality of life improvement for our community.

Starting in February, the 21 Acres School opens to the public with enrollment available in two inaugural courses: Backyard Farming and Intro to Food Processing. The School is located in the newly green-built Center for Local Food and Sustainable Living and will serve its students by using an agricultural context in which to learn about principles of sustainability. Future courses feature Choices for Sustainable Living, Sustainable Systems at Work, as well as health and climate change issues.

Backyard Farming is a five-week course beginning on February 22 and covers the topics of plant biology, building soil fertility, compost and plant nourishment, seed selection and plant starts, garden design and scheduling. Course will be taught by Dr. Elizabeth (Beth) Wheat, an ecologist at the University of Washington where she teaches urban farming courses and leads coordination of the UW student farm. 21 Acres is pleased to welcome Dr. Wheat and share her wealth of experience.

Intro to Food Processing is also a five-week course beginning on March 1 and covers the topics of processing food, including preservation of value-added farm products. This course is ideal for people who are considering launching new food-related businesses and need to know the basics or for those people who have already begun production and need a little extra help. Course will be taught by Dale Nelson, owner and founder of Food Concepts, Inc. a full-service specialty food development company in Washington State.

Plan to attend a free preview of "Intro to Food Processing" on Thursday, February, 23 at 6:30 p.m.

A new certificate program, the Sustainability & Stewardship Certificate, is available to students who complete studies in one or more sustainability fields. Enroll now and the fee is just $45 for a two-year period. Enrollees receive advance notice of class availability and occasional special discount offers. Registration fees for the five-week Backyard Farming course or the five week Intro to Food Processing course are $195 each. Additional courses in the Growing/Eating/Living Series are under development and will be announced soon. Interested students may enroll and register one of three ways: Phone: 425-481-1500 ; E-mail: deb@21acres.org; 21acres.org/school.

Dear Business Leader:

King County Office of Emergency Management is conducting a survey of businesses within King County that may have suffered an economic loss due to the effects of the recent snow and ice storm (January 16 – 23, 2012).

Information gathered through this survey will be sent to the Washington State Emergency Management Division which will determine whether the losses incurred are enough to request assistance from the Small Business Administration's Economic Injury Disaster Loan (EIDL) program.

On the next page is a copy of the Estimated Disaster Economic Injury Worksheet for Business. Please review it and, if it applies to your business, fill it out and return by fax to:

Timothy Doyle
Human Services Branch Director
King County Office of Emergency Management
Fax: 206-205-4056

Please try to get your survey back to us by Friday, February 13, 2012. Please note: completing a survey is not a guarantee of eligibility or future assistance.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

If you need more detailed information go to the Small Business Administration web site: <http://www.sba.gov/content/economic-injury-disaster-loans> or contact Timothy Doyle at: [\[thy.doyle@kingcounty.gov\]\(mailto:thy.doyle@kingcounty.gov\)](mailto:timo-
